North American Society for Pediatric Gastroenterology, Hepatology and Nutrition

edited by Maria Oliva-Hemker, MD, David Ziring, MD, Shehzad A. Saeed, MD, and Athos Bousvaros, MD, MPH

The North American Society for Pediatric Gastroenterology, Hepatology and Nutrition is the premier organization for physicians caring for children with digestive disorders in North America. NASPGHAN strives to improve the care of infants, children, and adolescents with digestive disorders by promoting advances in clinical care, research, and education.

Inflammatory bowel disease (IBD) is a common condition in children and adolescents. Parents and other family members typically have many questions about the diagnosis, symptoms, and treatments associated with various forms of IBD including Crohn's disease, ulcerative colitis, and indeterminate colitis. In this book, medical experts explain all you need to know about IBD and answer important questions, including:

- What are inflammatory bowel diseases, Crohn's disease, and ulcerative colitis?
- Is there a cure for IBD?
- How is IBD going to affect my child's daily life?
- Will my child's diet change?
- Can my child still play sports?
- Will my child need surgery?
- What are the side effects of commonly prescribed medications?
- What challenges may my child face at school and socially, especially as he or she grows older?
