

Disclaimer Statement

The NASPGHAN practice guidelines have been developed in accordance with the NASPGHAN Policy on Clinical Practice Guidelines and Related Statements and the Manual of Operations, both on the NASPGHAN website. The practice guidelines are evidence-based decision-making tools for managing health conditions. Practice Guidelines include Clinical Practice Guidelines (CPGs), clinical reports, technical reports, and position statements. They are authorized by the NASPGHAN Executive Council, peer reviewed, and periodically updated. NASPGHAN also endorses Guidelines developed by other organizations.

The NASPGHAN practice guidelines are not to be construed as standards of care. The guidelines are not rules and should not be construed as establishing a legal standard of care or as encouraging, advocating, requiring, or discouraging any particular treatment. The NASPGHAN guidelines are intended only as educational tools to provide information that may assist medical professionals in providing care to patients. All decisions regarding the care of a patient should be made by the health care team, patient, and family in consideration of all aspects of the individual patient's specific medical circumstances. NASPGHAN considers adherence to the guidelines to be voluntary. Clinical decisions in any particular case involve a complex analysis of the patient's condition and available courses of action. Therefore, clinical considerations may also lead to courses of action that vary from the guidelines.

While NASPGHAN makes every effort to present accurate and reliable information, these guidelines are provided "as is" without any warranty of accuracy, reliability, or otherwise, either express or implied. NASPGHAN does not guarantee, warrant, or endorse the products or services of any firm, organization, or person. Neither NASPGHAN nor its officers, directors, members, employees, or agents will be liable for any loss, damage, or claim with respect to any liabilities, including direct, special, indirect, or consequential damages, incurred in connection with the guidelines or reliance on the information presented.
